Arrole Lawrence: First Nations Healer

Arrole Lawrence, has performed thousands of healings for individuals over 30 years of practice. He works both privately and within First Nations Healing Centres situated in various locations throughout Ontario.

Arrole has a deep innerstanding that all forms of illness are the direct result of trauma, and that all experiences of trauma hold an energy frequency that is carried forward within the DNA, through many lifetimes. These negative energy frequencies, if not cleared from the DNA, will negatively affect our current lives, both emotionally and physically, as well as the lives of others within our family DNA lines. Over his many years of practice, Arrole has developed a unique healing method to clear these energy frequencies with a high success rate. Once healed, individuals will experience emotional relief, physical pain relief, as well as increased blood flow to an afflicted area of the body, which is the first stage of cellular repair. All illness can be cured when we allow ourselves to heal and eliminate the frequencies of emotional trauma.
