Community Energy Champion

Energy Update – January - 2024

Aanii;

You may remember we were planning a training initiative for solar design, installation, operation and maintenance. This has been delayed as the funding program will open for application submissions near the spring/summer. Updates will continue to come when new information is learned.

As winter has officially set in with the arrival of snow, you can use this snow to help understand heat loss within your home. Here are some typical ways that can help in determining where your home is losing heat.

- With a snow covered roof, you shouldn't see bare spots. Bare spots could be an area where heat is escaping into the attic space.
- Icicles forming around the eave of your house is sign of heat loss. Within the area of the icicles, there is heat loss, which melts the snow creating a stream of water that flows to the lowest point and freezes.
- Look at the ground around your house. If again you see less snow, it could be a sign of heat loss through the foundation walls.

The common fix for these is to ensure the areas are insulated and sealed properly. When it comes to the building envelope, "seal it tight and vent it right".

Forest Management Plan Amendment

Atikameksheng Anishnawbek has received notice from the Ministry of Natural Resources and Forestry (MNRF) regarding a proposal to amend the 2020-30 Forest Management Plan (FMP) for the Sudbury Forest to add a new primary road corridor (Roberts Road) in the Moose Mountain Mine area. The amendment has been proposed to divert haul traffic away from Moose Mountain Mine. The majority of the road is located on private land with the remainder on public land. Work required includes straightening and widening certain sections of road and regular maintenance.

Any feedback regarding the proposed work is valuable to our consultation efforts.

Position Details

At Hydro One, Powerline Technicians serve an apprenticeship to become a certified Powerline Technician.

Powerline Technicians construct, operate and maintain transmission and distribution lines. Their primary duty is to maintain power service to Hydro One customers.

A Powerline Technician is capable of erecting towers, poles and structures for power lines. They install and maintain overhead, underground and submarine conductors as well as all associated equipment. These include transformers, regulators, re-closures, sectionalizers, capacitors, airbreak switches and fused cutouts. Powerline Technicians also troubleshoot and restore electrical power during emergencies.

Applicants for this position must have successfully completed Grade 12 (or equivalent) Math and English (or equivalent). Related employment experience or education is an asset. A valid Ontario driver's license is also required.

Your success is based on a good work ethic, quality skills and a great attitude. Related work experience is an asset.

Training & Experience

The apprenticeship for a Powerline Technician consists of 4 terms of 2000 hours each. It takes approximately one year to complete each term. The 8000 hr apprenticeship includes a four week orientation session and a two week training session per term. All five in-class training sessions will be conducted at Hydro One's Kleinburg Training Centre, located just north of Toronto.

Apprentices also receive additional training to become a Regional Maintainer Lines. This includes Hydro One specific training.

Location

Powerline Technician Apprentices are required to travel and work throughout the province.

Upon successful completion of the apprenticeship program, you will be encouraged to apply for Powerline Technician opportunities anywhere in the Hydro One system.

Compensation & Benefits

In addition to enjoying a satisfying career with fellow skilled trade's people, you are paid while learning and enjoy an excellent benefit package. Apprentices start at $38.34/hr which includes benefits, pension and vacation pay, with pay adjustments upon completion of each term.

At Hydro One, fully qualified Powerline Technicians earn a total wage package of approximately $70.06/hr which includes benefits, pension and vacation pay. Apprentices earn wage increases after each term.

Position Demands

This work will appeal to those individuals that enjoy physical work that is primarily outdoors in all types of weather conditions. You will be required to work at heights, on ladders, in aerial devices and in trees. Powerline Technicians perform work on live electrical lines using a variety of tools, rubber gloves, and apply bare hand techniques.
