For Immediate Release Issued: April 9, 2026

Flood Watch – All Watersheds

SUDBURY – A Flood Watch for all Greater Sudbury watersheds takes effect at 4 PM today. This message is focussed on urban watercourses, and tributaries to major rivers. This message does not apply to the main branch of the Whitson River, Vermilion River, Onaping River or Wanapitei River. This statement will remain in effect until 2 PM, April 16th, 2026.

Water levels within most systems are currently at the high end of typical seasonal ranges following recent rain and melt events. A significant amount of snow remains across all area watersheds with recent surveys indicating the snowpack contains 200-240 mm of snow-water equivalent.

Forecasts of daytime temperatures over the next five days call for a continuous trend above 5 °C and as high as 13 °C. These daytime temperatures will release water held within the snowpack, increasing runoff to adjacent watercourses. Additionally, 30-50mm of rainfall is currently forecasted to begin on Sunday and continue into Monday. Current ground conditions are frozen, and the existing snowpack is near saturated, meaning there is little ability for the ground or snowpack to absorb the rain.

The runoff produced by the combined rainfall and snowmelt event will result in rising water levels in nearby watercourses. This rise will be most pronounced within urban watersheds and small tributaries that respond quickly to increased runoff.

Overland flooding is a possibility given the current forecast. Localized ponding on streets and other low-lying areas can also be expected.

Public safety is the number one priority, especially for children who may be attracted to the edge of creeks or rivers. The cold, fast-flowing water must be avoided. Stream banks will be very slippery and unsafe and must be avoided. Any open-water areas will continue to widen, and these must also be avoided.

Conservation Sudbury remains in direct contact with the City of Greater Sudbury and all other partners as required. Staff continue to monitor water levels and updates will be provided when needed.

Day Scholars Revitalization Society

Day Scholars Revitalization Society Launches its Second Call Out for Applications for Day Scholars

March 12, 2026, [WESTBANK FN, BC] – The Day Scholars Revitalization Society (DSRS) is an Indigenous-led organization dedicated to Day Scholars through the revitalization of language, culture, education, heritage, wellness, and commemoration.

The DSRS launched its second call for applications through the Day Scholars Revitalization Society from February 17, 2026, to May 15, 2026. The $50 million fund will provide financial support to Day Scholar Survivors — those who attended Indian Residential Schools during the day but returned home at night — and their first-generation Descendants to revitalize their languages, cultures, and heritage while accessing healing, wellness, educational and commemoration opportunities.

The Day Scholars Revitalization Fund is separate from the Day Scholars Compensation Payment. The Indian Residential Schools Day Scholars Class Action (compensation payment) claims period is now closed. Deloitte administered the class action compensation. The class action provided individual compensation for harms experienced from residential school. In contrast, the DSRS fund focuses on supporting Survivors and first-generation Descendants' revitalization journey.

The Day Scholars Revitalization Society's current information can be found on the DSRS social media platforms at:

- Facebook
- Instagram

We're encouraging Day Scholars to check their eligibility by visiting our website at www.dsrsociety.ca where Survivors and their first-generation Descendants can find detailed eligibility criteria, application steps, and additional resources.

SHARING CIRCLES

FOCUSED ON

CHILD WELL-BEING LAW

Our children deserve a future rooted in love, safety, culture, and community. That's why we are continuing the important work of strengthening our Child Well-Being Law—the law that guides how we care for and protect our children and families.

As we move forward, we want this law to truly reflect the voices, values, and vision of our community. We are revamping our community engagement sessions because we recognize that meaningful change begins with listening. This is your opportunity to help shape what child well-being looks like for our Nation, today and for generations to come.

To ensure everyone feels comfortable sharing, we will be hosting Sharing Circles focused on the Child Well-Being Law. These circles are being created as respectful, supportive spaces where community members can speak openly and honestly. At each session:

- A support person will be available should anyone need emotional support.
- Cultural components will be woven throughout.
- We will ground ourselves in the 7 Grandfather Teachings, ensuring our conversations are guided by wisdom, love, respect, bravery, honesty, humility, and truth.

Your voice matters. Your experiences matter. Your hopes for our children matter. We encourage all community members to attend one of the scheduled dates and be part of this important conversation. If you're unable to attend, we still want to hear from you. Please feel free to reach out to Heather Nootchtai to arrange a time to connect directly.

Together, we can build a Child Well-Being Law that reflects our teachings, protects our children, and strengthens our families. We look forward to sitting in circle with you.

For more information, please contact:

- Kerri Chevrier, Family Advocacy Manager, at familyadvocacy.manager@wlfn.com
- Rachel Pattison, Director of Social Services, at dss@wlfn.com

If you can't make it to one of the sessions, please contact Heather Nootchtai at healthpromo.manager@wlfn.com to book a one-on-one session or for more information.
