Barrie-Sudbury Transmission Line Open House

with dinner at 5:00pm
Come have a taste of summer with Leslie's catering

Ontario's long-term demand for electricity is increasing. To meet this demand, Hydro One will invest in a new priority transmission line between Sudbury and Barrie.

The proposed priority project is a new single-circuit, 500-kilovolt (kV) transmission line that will span approximately 300 kilometres from the Hanmer Transformer Station (TS) in Sudbury to the Essa TS near Barrie, including associated station facility expansions. The line is expected to be in service in 2032.

Hydro One is committed to working with First Nations in a spirit of cooperation and shared responsibility. The proposed transmission line will be developed in partnership with First Nations and help support new generation opportunities in northern Ontario, strengthen reliability and prepare the system for future growth.

We're pleased to share that our team has been selected to participate in an Early Contractor Engagement (ECE) phase for the Nickel Rim South Extension Project.

This engagement will see us working closely with the project stakeholders on constructability reviews, development of execution methodology and scheduling, and supporting the pricing strategy to help shape the overall delivery plan. This is a paid phase and reflects strong confidence in our team's capabilities and collaborative approach.

The current plan is to work towards transitioning into the main construction contract early next year, pending final approvals by both Vale and Glencore boards.

In parallel, we will be engaging with Vale and Glencore regarding the potential to initiate select Early Works activities as soon as this summer. We'll share further details as these discussions progress.

We're excited about the opportunity to contribute to this important project and look forward to working together to position it for success!
